DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is responsive to the amendment filed on 3/3/03. As directed by the amendment, claims 1, 6, 7, 9, 11, 15, and 18 were amended, claim 5 was canceled, and claims 23-33 were added. Thus, claims 1-4 and 6-33 are presently pending in this application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-4, 6-10, 13-19, and 22-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kuznets et al (6,251,089).

Kuznets teaches a plurality of resilient fingers (271, 170) (figures 9a-b, 5a) having a transversely extending portion (i.e., 173, 177), a handle 50, and a vibrator 56 (figure 3a) for vibrating the fingers along direction 278 (column 12, lines 29-31). Figure 9a of Kuznets reference shows the space formed by the fingers having a circumference, which exceeds the circumference of the opening formed by the free ends of the fingers.

Regarding claims 3 and 10, Kuznets in figure 5a shows that the fingers could be wires.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 3764

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 11, 12, 20, and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kuznets et al.

Kuznets does not explicitly disclose the fingers comprising electrically conductive material, i.e., copper wire. However, the feature of choosing a particular material, i.e., copper for the fingers is considered as an obvious design choice, since the copper is a well known material in the art.

Double Patenting

6. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Art Unit: 3764

7. Claims 1-4 and 6-33 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-26 of U.S. Patent No. 6,309,365 (Lacey) in view of Eliachar et al (5,511,270).

Lacey has everything as claimed except for a vibrator. However, Eliachar teaches a scalp massager having a vibrator. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Lacey's device with a vibrator as taught by Eliachar, in order to provide automatic massaging action on to the scalp.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed 3/3/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The applicant on page 10 of the remarks argues that Kuznets does not disclose a vibrator. However, Kuznets in column 11, lines 50-57, column 12, lines 27-31, figures 5a, 6b, and 9a clearly teaches a vibrator moving the fingers in a reciprocal arc movement. Thus, Kuznets reference does disclose a vibrator.

The applicant on page 11, the fourth full paragraph of the remarks argues that there is no suggestion to combine the references. The examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, a skilled artisan could have readily appreciated that Lacey's head massager could be included with a vibrator in view of Eliachar teaching, in order to perform an automatic massaging action on user's scalp.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Winrow (5,054,504) and Blachly (3,585,990) are cited to show automatic scalp massagers.

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
